

ABUTMENT GOES IN
The east abutment of the west-bound track of the C. & O. bridge over Cabin Creek at Springdale gave way yesterday morning at about 8 o'clock. The abutment has been cracked for some time but it was not thought at first that it would give way. A "gauntlet" was built by the section hands yesterday which will give a single track over this point until the abutment can be rebuilt. This will occupy some time and it is not known when the work will be completed.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE
In the Mason Circuit Court yesterday, Mary Emma Gill filed suit for divorce from her husband, Lee Gill and asked for the custody of their two children. She states that he left her on March 14 and has not been living with her since that time. She asks for alimony and maintenance for herself and children. Hon. A. D. Cole represents the plaintiff.

"DAMAGED GOODS" TODAY AT PASTIME
The vital drama of moral uplift "Damaged Goods" presented in seven parts by Richard Bennett and Co. workers is the special feature to be presented at the Pastime this afternoon and night. "Damaged Goods" pictures the terrible consequences of vice and the physical ruin that follows abuse of the moral law. It is a stirring plea for a pure life before marriage in order to make impossible the transmission of hereditary taints to future generations. "Damaged Goods" is endorsed by the pulpit and press as a great moral lesson. Admission 25c. Children under sixteen years of age not admitted.

FAIR CATALOG OUT
The Germantown Fair Catalog has been issued and is ready for distribution. The fair promises to be unusually interesting this year and a great number of premiums have been offered. The "Old Reliable" Germantown Fair yearly attracts a great number of people and this year has the promise of becoming a record breaker. The catalog this year was published in the LEDGER office. It was the second of three large catalogs published by this office within one month and it was out when promised.

WAGON BREAKS DOWN
One of the wagons used in hauling the brick for Schoofield and Jones for the streets in their contract broke down yesterday afternoon in front of the Whitehall Hotel. A broken axle was the cause of the trouble.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS
Will Offer Aid to Avoid Big Strike
President Wilson and Other Heads
Watch Controversy Affecting 225 Railroads and Their Men.
Washington, August 2—Officials of the federal government, including President Wilson, are closely watching developments in the controversy between 225 railway systems and their 400,000 employees, and are preparing to offer every possible aid in effecting an agreement and avoiding a strike.
Today the President forwarded to the Labor Department an appeal he had received from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States through Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the Chamber's Committee of Railroads, declaring a strike is inevitable "unless some strong measures of intervention are speedily introduced" and urging an inquiry.
In Touch With Situation
Acting Secretary of Labor Post said tonight he was in close touch with the situation but had not decided what action by the department would be necessary.
The Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation, which is authorized by law to attempt to avert strikes on railroads, also is keeping watch on developments, and its officials expect to be called on as soon as strike vote now being counted, has been completely canvassed. They said tonight that nothing could be done at present.
Appeal Sent to President
Copies of the chamber's appeal to President Wilson were forwarded to the chairman of the Congressional Commerce Committee and to representatives of the railroads and employees. The chamber is considering calling a conference here to impress Congress with the advisability of immediate action.
The joint request for mediation in the dispute between the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and its telegraphers reached the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation late today. Arrangements for taking the case up with the board tomorrow and representatives of the railroads and of the union probably will be asked to come to Washington for conference.

DEUTSCHLAND GETS OUT
Apparently Unobserved by Warships of His Enemies, Captain Koenig
Steers Boat Into Ocean—
at Point Where he Could Submerge Safely.
Norfolk, Va., August 2—The German submarine merchantman Deutschland passed quietly out of the Virginia Cape at 8:30 o'clock tonight on her homeward voyage apparently unobserved by the allied warships patrol waiting outside the three-mile limit. She was accompanied to the cape only by the tug Thomas F. Timmins, which had conveyed her down the bay from Baltimore, and by a newspaper dispatch boat.
Her departure to sea followed an eighteen-mile dash through the lower Chesapeake Bay. After proceeding slowly most of the way down she increased her power at 6:30 and reached the cape just after dark. None of the allied cruisers was visible as she passed through.
Whether she submerged before reaching the three-mile limit is not known. The two accompanying boats only know that she disappeared unharmed, and that to all appearance she had a clear field ahead to a point where she could completely submerge in safety.
Half an hour after the last night of the Deutschland had disappeared the Timmins, seemingly satisfied with her work, turned back and headed up Chesapeake Bay in the direction of Baltimore.
During part of the day the Deutschland had remained hidden at a cove up Chesapeake Bay. For several hours before the beginning of final dash she lay in a secluded retreat near Tangier Island, about fifty miles above Cape Henry.
The steamer Somerset and the government buoy tender Ivy reported during the early afternoon that they had passed her at that point. The press boat took a position near the dividing point of Old Point and Cape Henry channel and awaited the coming of the under-sea vessel.
Shortly before 6 o'clock the first sight of the craft was obtained. Apparently she was about five miles away and was low in the water, only her coming tower showing. The Timmins was a short distance behind and they were traveling about seven miles an hour.

KNOCKING AMERICAN SUGAR PRODUCERS

Every time the Democrats propose a new tax measure Frank C. Lowry, paid agent of the Federal Sugar Refining Trust, and the bete noir of the beet sugar industry, butts in with a proposition to relieve the 'peepul' of onerous taxation, and incidentally to give a bigger refiners' margin to the seaboard sugar refiners. At the gate the Democrats are enacting tax legislation, this keeps Frank pretty busy. He earns his money as a sugar lobbyist, even if his salary and expenses are added to the price of the sugar which the refiners sell to the housewife. The omnibus revenue measure which has just gone to the Senate gives Lowry the cue for proposing a half-cent a pound excise tax on sugar produced in the United States. When Democrats decided to repeal their free sugar clause because the Underwood tariff law had proved a failure as a revenue producer, Lowry wanted a cent a pound consumption tax on sugar. Now he is willing to close out at 50 cents on the dollar. Of course a tax on sugar produced in the United States would put the beet sugar manufacturers at a disadvantage in the very salutary competition they are waging against the seaboard refiners. The more the beet sugar men are handicapped the firmer the control of the sugar market in the hands of Lowry's principals. Certain Democratic Senators have several times attempted to carry Lowry's plans into execution. Will they again attempt it, with election so close at hand?

BLAME FOR BLOODSHED FALLS
UPON ENEMIES, KAISER SAYS
IN WAR ANNIVERSARY MESSAGE

Berlin, August 1.—Emperor William today sent the following message to Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, Imperial Chancellor:

"For the second time the anniversary of the day arrives when our enemies forced me to call Germany's sons to arms to protect the honor and existence of the Empire.

"The German nation has been through two years of unprecedentedly heroic deeds and suffering. The army and navy in union with our loyal and brave allies have gained the highest glory in attack and defense. Many thousands of our brethren have sealed their loyalty to the fatherland with their blood.

"In the west and in the east our heroic men in field gray resist in unshaken fortitude the terrible onslaught of the enemy.

"Our young fleet on that glorious day in the Skagerrak inflicted a heavy blow on the British armada. Deeds of untiring sacrifice and loyal comradeship at the front glow brightly before my eyes.

"At home, also, we see heroism. Men and women, old and young, all quietly and bravely wearing mourning, and the anxiety of all who organize and help to lessen the suffering caused by the war and of all who labor day and night unceasingly to supply our fighting brothers in the trenches and at sea with the necessary armament.

"Our enemies' hopes to outstrip our production of war material will prove as unattainable as was their plan to secure by starvation what their sword not attain.

"God's blessing on Germany's fields has rewarded the farmers more bountifully than we dared to hope. South and North in friendly rivalry strive to find the best means for an even distribution of the foodstuffs and other necessities.

"To all those fighting either on the battlefield or at home my heartiest thanks.

"Still hard times are ahead. After the terrible storm of the two years of war a desire for sunshine and peace is stirring in all human hearts, but the war continues because the battle cry of the enemy Governments is still the destruction of Germany. Blame for further bloodshed falls only on our enemies. The firm confidence has never left me that Germany is invincible in spite of the superior numbers of our enemies, and every day confirms this anew.

"Germany knows she is fighting for her existence. She also knows her strength, and she relies on God's help. Therefore nothing can shake her determination or her assurance. We shall bring this struggle to such an end that our empire will be protected against further attack, and that a free field will be assured for the peaceful development of German genius and labor.

"We shall live free, secure and strong among the nations of the world. This right nobody shall or will snatch from us. I ask you to make this manifestly public."

Emperor William has issued the following proclamation to the German forces on land and sea:

"Comrades, the second year of the world war has elapsed. Like the first it was for Germany's arms a year of glory. On all fronts inflicted new and heavy blows on the enemy.

"Whether the enemy retreated, borne down by the force of your attacks, or whether, re-enforced by foreign assistance, collected and pressed into service from all parts of the world, he tried to rob you of victories, you always proved yourself superior.

"Even when England's tyranny was uncontested, namely, on the free waves of the sea, you victoriously fought against gigantic superiority. Your Kaiser's appreciation and your grateful country's proud admiration are assured to you for these deeds, for your unshaken loyalty, for your bold daring and for your tenacious bravery.

"Like the memory of our dead heroes your fame also will endure through all time. The laurels which our ever-confident forces have won against the enemy in spite of trials and dangers are inseparably linked with the devoted and untiring labor at home.

"This strength at home has sent an ever-fresh inspiration to the armies in the field. It has continuously quickened our swords, has kindled Germany's enthusiasm and has terrified the enemy. My gratitude and that of the Fatherland are due the national home.

"But the strength and will of the enemy are not yet broken. We must continue the severe struggle in order to secure the safety of our beloved home land, to preserve the honor of the Fatherland and the greatness of the empire.

"Whether the enemy wages war with force of arms or with cold, calculating malice we shall continue as before into the third year of the war. The spirit of duty to the Fatherland and an unbending will to victory permeate our homes and our fighting forces today as in the first days of the war. With God's gracious help

I am convinced that your future deeds will equal those of the past and present.

TIPS FROM TEXAS

(Dallas News)

As a general thing, a pessimist is a person who has money owing to him.

Maybe you also have observed the youth who thought that talking of cold bottles made him a warm member.

Sometimes when a man can't stand prosperity he marries a splendorous woman.

Some people have such a idea of a joke they laugh when a man marries for money and misses it.

If the truth could be discovered probably it would be found that the money our grandmothers saved by not buying tall, white shoes they spent on long, white petticoats.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.

I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good." Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Braves Jaws of Death—German U-Boat Runs Gauntlet of Alert Foe.

Annapolis, Md., August 1.—The Deutschland passed Annapolis at 8:45 o'clock steaming about twelve miles an hour. The tug Timmins alone was conveying her. The yacht Valiant, with photographers aboard, put into this port and reported the trip thus far uneventful. The coast guard cutter Wissahickon left the Deutschland at Ft. Carroll. The weather is clear, the wind stiff and there is not much sea.

Baltimore, August 1.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland left on her perilous voyage to her home port at 5:40 p. m. today, carrying a cargo of crude rubber and nickel and a consignment of gold. The start was made after several hours of waiting for better tidal conditions. Owen Coleman, Chesapeake Bay pilot, steered the ship.

When the subsea boat united from her mooring and started slowly on her way she was escorted by a number of government boats.

The police boat Lannan was on one side and the United States cutter Apache on the other.

The tug Timmins, "guardian angel" for the submarine, led the procession to the outer harbor, where a small fleet of British and French warships, laying outside the three-mile limit, were prepared to sink the German craft, the moment she passed out of United States territory.

The Deutschland, with her escort, moved slowly along on the surface of the Patuxent River in the direction of Chesapeake Bay.

Under Own Power

The Thom's F. Timmins drew the submarine out to the main channel. There the tug line was cast off and the submarine proceeded under her own power.

The coast guard cutter Wissahickon followed close behind and a little further back was the Timmins. In this order the little squadron proceeded down the river and soon disappeared from view around Wagner's Point.

A few sightseeing motorboats followed, but they were kept at a safe distance by the city police boat Lannan.

As the Deutschland left the wharf

flags were run up on the interned

North German Lloyd liner Neckar and the crew lined the rail cheering and shouting their farewells to their countrymen in the Deutschland.

With Keen Eye

Captain Paul Koeing of the Deutschland in fresh-laundered khaki late to day scanned the dreary stretch of harbor before his craft with keen eyes and planned his way out into the bay. He conferred with Port Captain Hirsch of the Deutschland, Ocean Rherderel and with Carl Prusse, the naval constructor in charge of the mechanical work aboard the submarine.

Determined to take no chance of a mine or other obstruction in the approaches to the main ship channel off the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company, where the Deutschland lies the tug Efoe was engaged early in pulling a large wire drag through the water. This action was taken after the tug Timmins and the Efoe had removed the boom that has protected the submarine.

TARIFF ON AMERICAN GOODS IS BRITAIN'S LATEST PLAN

Washington, August 1.—The British Government is planning to establish a tariff on American goods other than munitions or war imported to that country, the Department of Commerce was officially advised late today. Commercial Attache Pierce C. Williams of the American Embassy in London reported to the department that a tariff on American goods as a means of raising revenue was "clearly foreshadowed." Williams said he had received official information that such a step would be taken "very soon." England has always been a "free trade" nation.

RESULTS OF NEWSPAPER READING.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

In a public address the other day, W. W. Harris of New York, made this statement in regard to the effect of newspaper reading:

"The constant reading of newspapers certainly has three results: An extension of popular vocabulary; an extension of popular information; a broadening of our world vision, for never have newspapers printed so much world news as of late years."

The gentleman could have put it even more briefly and as forcefully by stating that in this day and age no man can be educated unless he closely follows the daily press. He can not understand history, for history is being written every day. He can not understand mechanics, for the daily paper records the activities of the mechanical world long before the technical journals hear of the events. He can not understand economics, unless he reads the daily paper, because to understand economy one must also understand industrial and financial and commercial conditions. In short, he can not understand the spirit of the times unless he be a reader of the newspapers.

GETTING AWAY WITH IT

(Wall Street Journal)

Laughable errors in illustrated advertisements are often apparent to the thinking man. It makes one wonder why the designers of the ads don't get their information first hand from some one who really knows. Accuracy, even in advertisements, has the same attraction if it has anywhere else. For instance: When the seltzer bottle in an electrical sign on Broadway is filling the empty glass, the level descends as fast in the bottle as it rises in the glass; yet the bottle is five times as big. It couldn't possibly be, according to physics.

Still worse is a picture of a piano with a pair of hands striking certain keys. Fortunate it is indeed that that piano struck sound, for the particular keys struck would be a jangling discord. Why couldn't the artist have gone to a musician for a pleasing chord among the infinite offerings of music? If advertising cannot be commercially artistic, may it not at least be artistically commercial?

"FEMINIZING" AMERICAN YOUTH.

Are boys in danger of being "feminized" when they are taught by women in the higher grades of the public schools? In a recent address to the Boston Congregational ministers, Dr. Hugh Cabot asserted not only that they are in danger but they are actually being feminized, and he seems to have cited New York as a warning example. In his reply Thomas W. Churchill, president of New York's board of education, declared that the boys in the public schools of the metropolis are mainly fellows, but admitted that there was need of more men instructors in the higher grades. He expressed regret that there are 17,000 women to only 4,000 men employed in the public schools, but said this was unavoidable owing to the fact that the men required higher pay. He expressed the opinion that the woman teacher was better for boys until they reach the age of about 12, and that then they should come under the influence of men, adding: "Certainly we don't want to turn out nambypamby men."

The most notable statement made by Mr. Churchill was reported as follows: "The Germans have worked on the principle of non-feminization in their educational systems, employing men for boys. In this country we have employed a majority of women teachers for boys, but I can not see that they have undergone a feminizing influence." This suggests the question as to how our women-taught youth would stand the test of war. It would be highly interesting to know to what extent the German principle of "non-feminization" in schools is responsible for their success on the firing line. Have the English, French and Russians worked on the same principles in their schools, or have their soldiers been educated by women because it was cheaper? Without the facts it would be unwise to draw conclusions, or even safe to speculate, but we may rest assured that this subject is much more important than unreflecting persons are apt to suppose.

Nature when assisted or when left undisturbed, will assert itself and the development will be normal, but nature can be diverted from its appointed course by surrounding influences of a compelling character. The ancients told a story of a warring Persian king who took revenge on a young enemy, not by blinding or maiming him, but by cutting him off entirely from men and compelling him to work at the loom and the spinning wheel among female slaves. The result aimed at was achieved; within a few years the proud young warrior had become a weak, non-virile, womanish creature. No such extreme results could be brought about by the influence of refined and lady-like teachers—restricted merely to school hours—on boys during the transitional period from childhood to adolescence; but the young mind is plastic and the youth who is taught only by women during the formative period can hardly fail to be different from the youth who is taught by men, although the difference may never appear upon the surface.

One grain of radium will so fertilize 50 tons of soil that grain will grow with great rapidity. Radishes and carrots raised in this soil grow to six times their usual weight.

CAN'T CUDDLE VERY WARMLY TO MR. WILSON

Louisville, Ky., August 1.—In the course of an editorial in The Courier-Journal tomorrow Henry Watterson will say:

"Mr. Hughes took Mexico for the capital offense of his culprit. As a case in nisi prius he makes a lawyer-like showing, for there, as The Courier-Journal has from the first, and often since repeatedly shown, Mr. Wilson is weakest.

"The Courier-Journal, being an old-fashioned Democrat of the school of Jefferson and Jackson, does not and can not cuddle very warmly to Woodrow Wilson. It took no stock in his new freedom. It rejects his gospel of humanity. It has had objections to many of his appointments to office. For such measures as his Tariff Commission and his shipping scheme it entertains aversion, not to say contempt. It fears that, in the event of his re-election, which it nevertheless expects, it will be in honor and sincerity obliged to oppose to support his policies."

As an adjunct to a residence heating system there has been invented a box that serves both as a hot air outlet and cold air inlet, and also can be used as a window seat.

For putting the finishing touches to concrete roads a machine driven by a gasoline engine has been invented that can finish about 8,000 square feet a day.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years doctors pronounced it to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Call To Breakfast

Has a new appeal for those who awake to a breakfast of

New Post Toasties

These new corn flakes bear a unique deliciousness because of their self-developed flavor and improved form. The flavor is the true essence of choice, ripe Indian corn. Unlike ordinary "corn flakes," the New Toasties do not depend upon cream and sugar for their palatability.

Try some dry—they're good that way and the test will demonstrate their flavor. Then try some with cream or rich milk. Note that New Post Toasties are not "chaffy" in the package; and that they don't mush down when cream is added.

New Post Toasties are known by the tiny "bubbles" on each flake, produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making. They come in a wax-sealed package that preserves their oven crispness and delightful flavor—the most perfect corn flakes ever produced.

For Tomorrow's Breakfast—New Post Toasties.

NOTES FROM RUGGLES

J. H. R. Writes Interesting Letter of Happening at Picturesque and Famous Old Campgrounds.

Ruggles Campgrounds, August 1—Campmeeting has now reached the stage where for some of us it is an extremely busy time. This has been one of the busy days. Of course no one makes any effort to attend all the various meetings. If one should attempt such a thing he would hardly have time for eating or sleeping. But as there are meetings for young and old, boys and girls, women and the children, we can all find several services each day in which we can all get much good.

All the services of the day have been at high pitch. The attendance has been the best yet. Tonight's meeting was attended by an immense crowd. The camp is just now as crowded as it can be. If many more come to stay over night somebody will have to sleep out in the woods or in the stables. If people want to attend this campmeeting in future years they will have to secure quarters a long time ahead. The Board is now considering the problem of more room.

Rev. Murphy Hill of Gallup, one of our young preachers, led the early prayer service.

At 10 a. m. we had from Rev. Madison Combs, one of the most blessed sermons of the campmeeting. In the quiet of the morning hour he just simply fed us on the "Word of Life." The audience was visibly affected, emotions were stirred. Brother Combs' message will not be soon forgotten.

At 3 p. m. Dr. Jolly came to us with another one of his fine talks, each day getting better. He gave an exposition of the parable of the Ten Virgins. Word that Rev. Hamilton who was to have had charge of the afternoon meetings will be unable to be present has been received. While this is somewhat of a disappointment we are all going to be greatly profited by the afternoon talks of Dr. Jolly.

While somewhat hoarse from speaking in the open night air, Dr. Franklin was ready with another great message tonight. At the close of the service the preachers and workers accompanied by over one hundred campers marched about the grounds singing gossamer songs, stopping at intervals for a few prayers. This movement was thoroughly enjoyed by all. There is such a fine spirit prevailing among all here, such a harmonious feeling among the preachers, and such an earnestness, that there surely must be much good result from this year's meetings. Much credit is due to the two new superintendents, Revs. Overley and Davenport for the splendid feeling that prevails. These two Godly men were true yoke-fellows in the Master's work.

Dr. J. D. Walsh called the School Committee of Union College together this morning at 7 o'clock. The following members of the Board of Education were present: Dr. Walsh, E. R. Overley, E. P. Hall, President E. T. Franklin, and J. H. Richardson. Several important matters were disposed of, two new teachers elected. This splendid school is being put in the best of order for the coming term. Those desiring to attend a good Christian school can do no better than Union College at Barboursville.

Rev. W. K. McClure and family of Flemingsburg were in attendance during today's services. Rev. McClure is pastor of the South Methodist church at that place.

Rev. E. H. Ritchie, another South Methodist preacher, pastor at Tolesboro, was a visitor at today's meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bowman of Vanceburg, came out today for a several days' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Steele came out for a short visit this afternoon. Miss Nellie Steele who has been a guest at the Richardson cottage since Sunday, returned to her home with them.

More preachers. Six more came in during the day. Revs. F. W. Harrop of Harlan, W. W. Shepherd of Corbin, A. F. Felts of Maysville, T. B. Bratton of West Covington, and A. W. Insko and T. H. Corney of Salsburgville. Methodist preachers have the reputation for being good singers. With nearly thirty of them to help one can imagine what good singing we are having. We are having a preacher's male quartet every day. It is inspiring to hear the big choir sing. The regular musicians are being assisted by Dr. O'Bannon with his ballad horn which certainly adds much to the beauty of the music. J. H. R.

MOOSE CANDIDATE

May Be Put Up—Progressives Who Disapprove of Hughes Will Meet Today—Parker Issues Call.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 2—Progressive party leaders from a number of states, who disapproved of the action of the Bull Moose National Committee in endorsing Charles E. Hughes for President at its meeting in Chicago, June 26, will hold a conference here tomorrow to consider the advisability of re-assembling the party's national convention within thirty days to nominate a candidate for President as a running mate of John M. Parker, of Louisiana, nominee for Vice President.

Parker, who issued the call for the conference, arrived tonight and conferred with Progressive leaders from other states, but no definite plan has been agreed upon for tomorrow's conference. A majority of the party's representatives who are here are in favor of nominating a candidate for President but admit that the principal objection to the plan is the apparent lack of available candidates. Victor Murdock, of Kansas, apparently is the choice of a majority of the Progressives for President, but the has declined to make the race.

Another suggestion is that Parker remain for President and another candidate be selected for Vice President.

A few of the Progressives from eastern states, it is said, are opposed to the naming of a third ticket and will either urge the endorsement of President Woodrow Wilson or fight to have the conference adjourned without taking action of any kind. They doubt whether a majority of the delegates to the Progressive National Convention would respond to a call to re-assemble at this late date and believe it would be a mistake to attempt to put a third ticket in the field in view of existing conditions.

While the leaders who will attend the conference are divided as to the wisdom of naming a national ticket at this time, they are a unit in protesting against the action of the Bull Moose National Committee in endorsing Hughes and favor some action which will tend to perpetuate the Progressive party as a national political organization.

Sarah E. Lyons, of Minneapolis, was the first woman Progressive to arrive for the conference, and she favored naming a third ticket.

MRS. C. C. DEGMAN

(By Rev. W. C. Northcott for the Public Ledger)

I just became acquainted with Mrs. Degman while her husband was living, several years before his death. They were then members of the Christian Church at Springdale, but each stood up at the testimony meetings to tell of God's redeeming love as we Methodist did. They seemed to take as much interest in soul saving as any of us.

For many years Mrs. Degman occupied a cottage during the meetings at Ruggles. It was a few doors west of the one I occupied and I often had to pass it, and when services were not going on in the Tabernacle, there was usually a crowd about her door. She attracted people to her presence because of her peculiar personality. She was intelligent, sociable, kind and delighted in making others happy. She carried the spirit of Christ with her and all came in contact with her felt that she was a devout follower of the Master. When the services began at the Tabernacle she was always in her seat, and that was at the front. She was always ready to give her testimony or to take any other part assigned her. Her intelligence and devotion marked her for leadership among the mothers of the camp and often she led them in their "Mothers' Meetings" much to their edification. When I needed some one to take notes of the sermon and no other was available she was ever ready with pencil and paper to tell me the import of the message and she could condense the substance of long paragraphs into a brief sentence and then give a clear idea of what the preacher said. She was an expert in that kind of reporting and had she chosen to be a correspondent or reporter she would have become eminent.

I felt very grateful for her help and many other kind deeds during my campmeeting experiences of all the good Christian women who have graced Ruggles Camp with their loving presence and service. She stands in my memory as one of the very first and best. Of her it may be truly said, "She is one of the daughters who have done virtuously, and Ruggles loses a great helper, the Methodist Episcopal Church a noble worker and I a faithful friend."
